meet FRANKIE CAGLE

Randolph Telephone's Central Office Operations Manager

The love of technology is what drew Frankie Cagle to Randolph Telephone in May 1983.

Frankie has worked in almost every department, learning different aspects of the company. He is currently the central office operations manager. He is responsible for overseeing the installation and maintenance of the digital switching and broadband equipment. Frankie views working for a rural telecommunications company as having an advantage over other telephone companies.

"Living in the community you serve makes you strive to bring the highest quality of telecommunication service to your customers because it affects people you know," says Frankie. "Customers are not numbers, they are friends and family. This makes your commitment to your job personal and makes you more accountable for the decisions you make."

Over Frankie's 22-year career with Randolph Telephone, he has been to numerous training classes and seminars. The most recent was the Dale Carnegie Course® that coaches employees on techniques to maximize their performance, become stronger leaders and add more value to their company. Frankie not only successfully completed the course, but was awarded "The Highest Achievement Award" for his outstanding accomplishments throughout the course.

"The course has given me the opportunity to speak in front of people and to feel comfortable in that arena," states Frankie.

Frankie was born and raised in the Westmoore community and still lives there with his wife, Jennifer, and their two children, Heather and Joshua. He is a Sunday school teacher and a deacon at his church, Union Grove Baptist. Even though he enjoys a round of golf now and then, he is a true family man who enjoys spending time with his children the most. ■

Keeping You Connected During Power Outages

In the upcoming spring months, power outages are more common and can cripple communications if you are not prepared. Randolph Telephone is your protection plan to always stay connected.

Randolph Telephone's traditional telephone service has the advantage over wireless service by keeping you connected using emergency generators and years of experience to set up traffic overload contingency plans. And, a traditional corded phone will work in a power outage, unlike most Internet-based and wireless phones.

Don't risk precious time in emergency situations.

Even though the power may be out, Randolph Telephone's Voice Mail will ensure that your important messages are protected by our backup system and delivered to you. Most answering machines will not work without power.

Lastly, it is wise to protect your inside wiring, telephone jacks and DSL equipment with our Inside Wire Maintenance Service plans. Power surges, lightning strikes and other severe weather can cause costly damage to your telecommunications wiring and equipment. For pennies a day, our protection plans can save you from expensive repair.

Call us today to make sure you're protected! ■

Call Before You Dig

Spring is the perfect time to get started on those outdoor projects, but before you break ground for a home addition, swimming pool, fence or landscaping project that requires excavation, drilling or digging, make sure you're clear of all underground telephone lines.

State law requires anyone starting digging or excavating projects to call in advance to locate any possible underground utility lines. Call us at 611 or 622-7900 at least 48 hours before you start your yard digging projects so that we can send a representative to locate and mark your telephone lines. The good news is, it's free and you can save yourself a costly repair bill. Help prevent your family and neighbors from possibly losing communication services, including access to emergency 911 services.

It's easy, free and it's the law. ■

WHAT'S A BODY To Do!

Helpful Web Sites To Take The Fear Out Of Health & Fitness

Summer is fast approaching. While that is music to a lot of people's ears, it also strikes fear in the hearts of those of us who dread putting on a swim suit after the holiday goodies we indulged in just a few short months ago. We could either burn last year's swim suit and vow never to wear less than a t-shirt and shorts again or we could use the upcoming weeks to tone up and look forward to the swim suit season.

Do You Need Help Paying Your Phone Bill?

Everyone, regardless of their financial situation, needs a phone in order to access 911 emergency services and to communicate with doctors, employers and family.

Persons receiving Food Stamps, Supplemental Security Income (SSI), Work First, Medicaid, Low Income Home Energy Assistance Program (LIHEAP), Federal Public Housing Assistance, Temporary Assistance to Needy Families (TANF) and the National School Lunch Program's Free Lunch Program (Section 8) benefits can get discounts on telephone service.

All telephone companies that provide local residential service in North Carolina are required to offer two programs to their residential customers who qualify. LINK-UP offers a 50% discount (up to $30) to hook up a residential telephone, and LIFELINE offers a discount of $13.50 per month on your local bill for people participating in the government programs listed in the previous paragraph.

These discounts on local telephone service may even be available for consumers who have had their telephone service disconnected for unpaid toll bills. Interested families should contact Randolph Telephone at 622-7900 to learn more about these programs. ■
